This has caused us to realize that India's media is a pretty tight-knit one that is pretty sure that all its news is true and the rest is just hype and lies. I think we will continue to pay attention and remember the truth when we see it. A friend of ours who works in IT says, "There should be a system where if you see you're in no relation with any news organisation, you can't even be sure you're talking to the guy (or gal). That would make an awful lot of sense." That was my favorite part of this blog and it's what I think will help you, readers, make an informed decision or take action. My thanks goes out to that friend who came up with that idea..
